

Group Discussion and Application

1. How can we prevent worship from becoming mere external, mechanical, habitual activity?
2. What are some of the values of tradition? What are some of the dangers?
3. How can the values of tradition be maintained while avoiding the dangers?
4. What kinds of questions should we ask before adopting some new method or style in worship? What are the benefits (and dangers) of the new?
5. What has taken the place of preaching in some churches? What must churches do to keep Biblical preaching central to worship?
6. What are the advantages of expository preaching vs. topical preaching? (In expository preaching the sermon theme, proposition, main points and supporting points are derived from a specific passage of Scripture.)
7. What criteria should we use to judge the suitability of a music selection for Sunday morning corporate worship?
8. What important and practical lessons have you learned about worship from our recent studies?

Personal Reflection and Response

1. The most important lesson I have learned about worship in this series is...
2. One change I need to make in my worship is...
3. I will begin this change by... (specify the action you will take)

Family Homework

1. Review the main lessons learned from each of our four studies on worship.
2. Have each family member share the most important lesson they have learned about worship and how it applies personally and practically.

A Theology of Worship (iv)

John 4:20-24

God is spirit, and those who worship Him must worship in spirit and truth.

1

Worship must be in spirit.

2

Worship must be in truth.
